Czar's Forces Have Crossed the Yalu to Meet the Invading Hosts of Japanese, and Meeting of Their Advance Guards Results in Sanguinary Fight at Chongju.

COSSACKS ARE FINALLY FORCED TO RETREAT FROM THE SCENE.

Japanese Despatches Say the Russians Suffered Severely.—St. Petersburg Advices Say the Enemy Lost 140 in Killed and Wounded.—Russians Have Crossed the Yalu.

Despatches to-day show that a Russian army 25,000 strong has crossed the Yalu River and is marching into Korea to give battle to the Japs.

It was the advance guards of the Russian and Japanese armies that were engaged Monday in the sanguinary fight at Chong Ju, in which the Russians were driven out of the town. The Russian commander admits his defeat and reports the loss of 18 killed and wounded. The Japanese report a loss of 19 killed and wounded. The Russians estimate the Japanese loss at 40 killed and 100 wounded.

Russia has suffered another loss through a collision in Port Arthur Harbor, the battle-ship Savastopol having been damaged by the Petropavlovsk.

Great Britain will not keep a warship at Newchwang, and the United States gunboat Helena has been ordered from there to Shanghai. She will carry all Americans who desire to leave.

TOKIO, Japan, March 30.—The first land battle of importance in the war was fought on Monday at Chongju, in Korea, in which the Russians were defeated after a stubborn resistance, leaving five dead Cossacks on the field.

The battle was fought between an advance guard of Japanese cavalry and a Cossack outpost. The Japanese encountered the Cossack scouts north of Anju and drove them back toward the main body. The entire Cossack force retreated to Chongju and there made a stand, 600 strong.

They were fought effectively. After several hours the Japanese accomplished a flank movement on the left wing of the enemy, driving them from their position.

A straight, hard conflict between the two bodies of cavalry ensued. They fought through the snow-covered streets of the town, the Russians

LOST $150,000 IN STOCKS, WOMAN TRIES SUICIDE.

Miss Maud Ingersoll, Cousin of the Famous Orator, Demented Because of Her Failure, Attempts to Stab Herself with a Fork.

Miss Maud Ingersoll, who was received at the psychopathic ward in Bellevue to-day, to be examined for her sanity, was not held there. She was sent to her home in New Britain, Conn., this afternoon, and from there will be taken to a sanitarium.

Miss Ingersoll is said to be the first cousin of the late Robert Ingersoll. She is forty-four years of age. Six years ago she lost $150,000 in business. Since that time she has paid all her indebtedness, but worry over the loss of her money appears to have unbalanced her mind.

She was visiting in New York with Miss Helen Tinkham, at No. 294 West One Hundred and Twelfth street, and last night became violent. Miss Tinkham was afraid to leave her alone. To-day Miss Ingersoll attempted to stab herself with a fork and Miss Tinkham called in Policeman Hanley, who advised that she be sent to Bellevue.

The unfortunate woman, guarded by Miss Tinkham and the policeman, was driven down to the hospital in a patrol

RACE TRACK, BENNING'S, WASHINGTON, D. C., March 30.—The layers did not face the players with any confidence an air to-day. They had the scorching of yesterday in mind and from the looks of things favorites seemed to have the best of it again this afternoon.

The weather could not have been finer if it had been made to order. The track was in better shape than at any time during the meeting. The attendance was first-class and speculation was heartily indulged in. The race was loaded with the best of yesterday.
